

UCSF finds the Energy Star program critical for us to achieve our Carbon Neutrality by 2025 goal. We are starting to require only Energy Star rated electronic products and appliances where available. We'd also like to encourage Energy Star-rated medical equipment and are starting to collect data on MRIs towards this goal. We encourage consistency and support encouraging already rated appliances to recertified to meet increasingly more stringent standards. It would be ideal to increase the rate at which new product categories are added and certified. Please keep up the great work and collaboration with universities to continue to add more products to the ratings program.

Thank you!

Warm Regards,
