Dear ENERGY STAR® Products Partner Meeting Stakeholder,

Due to unexpected budget cuts, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will not be hosting an in-person event this fall for the 2022 ENERGY STAR Products Partner Meeting. The ENERGY STAR team sincerely appreciates your understanding and support, and we look forward to gathering again for this important meeting in 2023. In lieu of an event this year, ENERGY STAR will be hosting webinars for selected topics during the fall, and welcomes you to contact us about priority interactions with us or other partners that you would like to see facilitated.

As EPA employees return to the office, it will also be possible to hold meetings at EPA facilities should your organization wish to engage with us in person. For the most up to date information regarding EPA's plans for connecting this fall, please visit the ENERGY STAR Partner Meetings page.

Thank you for your continued support of the ENERGY STAR program.

Ann Bailey
Chief, ENERGY STAR Product Labeling Branch
Climate Protection Partnerships Division
