Dear ENERGY STAR® Commercial Food Service Partner and Stakeholder:

ENERGY STAR's Ask the Experts blog features informational posts on energy efficiency topics in the form of How-To, Did You Know, Q&A, and Innovation & Tech categories. The first CFS Ask the Experts blog post, How to Cut Utility Costs in Your Commercial Kitchen was published in November 2020. This article provides an overview of common sources and behaviors that lead to high energy and water use and offers simple solutions to save money. If you find this article particularly helpful, share it on your website to promote your partnership with ENERGY STAR and educate your customers on the benefits of energy efficiency. We encourage you to check out other Ask the Experts posts and continue to stay up-to-date to learn tips for purchasing, promoting, and selling ENERGY STAR certified products.

If you have any questions or suggestions for future CFS Ask the Experts topics, please email CFS@energystar.gov.

Thank you for your support of ENERGY STAR.
