Soak In The Savings!

Gas storage and tankless water heaters that have earned the ENERGY STAR are independently certified to save energy, save you money, and help prevent climate change. In fact, they:

- Use about 10 percent less energy compared to standard gas water heaters
- Can save a four-person household hundreds of dollars over its lifetime
- Qualify for generous incentives that can greatly reduce the incremental costs of ENERGY STAR certified models

If every gas water heater sold in the United States was ENERGY STAR certified, energy savings would grow to almost $1.2 billion annually. These savings are equivalent to preventing about 10 billion pounds of greenhouse gas or the emissions of 900 thousand cars annually.

To improve efficiency, the latest technologies are deployed in ENERGY STAR certified gas water heaters:

- Storage water heaters use better insulation, heat traps, and more efficient combustion systems.
- Tankless water heaters employ a secondary heat exchanger to extract more heat from the combustion process.

Don't Flood Your Basement!

If your water heater is over 10 years old, be proactive and replace it with an ENERGY STAR certified water heater BEFORE it fails.

Take Advantage of Incentives

Many utilities offer incentives for purchasing ENERGY STAR certified gas water heaters. The tables below show several examples from across the country. Check with your local utility for more details or go to www.energystar.gov/rebatefinder.
