Hello,

I suggest that ENERGY STAR for Computers Rev 9.0 section 2.2.2 be extended with:

      xii.   Open Pluggable Specification (OPS) modules.

OPS modules are clearly not intended to be in scope of the specification, but a hair-splitting reading of Rev 8.0 section 1.A)2) could classify an OPS as a Desktop Computer. (The test method would still be unclear, since only Notebooks and Slates/Tablets can be tested with a separately-sourced EPS.) Explicitly excluding them would remove this ambiguity.

Best wishes for 2023.

Cheers — John
